Frank D. Smith Midget “A” Scholarship Award

About the Award

Established in 2005, the Frank D. Smith Midget “A” Scholarship Award was developed to recognize a Midget “A” Player who achieves a high standard of excellence academically and in and hockey. Frank D. Smith was the founder of the T.H.L (the predecessor of the GTHL) in 1911. He remained Secretary of the League for 50-years, until 1961. His vision allowed the League to develop rapidly while his passion and focus remained the children and the game. He was known as a man “who put so much into the game without expecting to get anything out of it”. He started many programs that exist today in the GTHL, including the King Clancy Tournament. Frank D. Smith was inducted into the builder’s category of the Hockey Hall of Fame in 1961.

The Greater Toronto Hockey League presents the Award annually to the Midget “A” Player who achieves a high standard of excellence academically and in hockey. The Award is a one-time post secondary educational scholarship provided by the GTHL.
